Choosing The Right IEEE-SA Award

The IEEE-SA International Award
For an IEEE-SA individual member (who is also an IEEE member) who has made an extraordinary contribution to establishing IEEE-SA as a world-class leader in standards development.

The IEEE-SA Standards Medallion
For a major contributor to the development of standards in the IEEE fields of interest.

The IEEE-SA Emerging Technology Award
For an individual, working group, or company that is an IEEE-SA member and has acted as the champion, project leader, or principal contributor of a project on which the IEEE-SA has collaborated, or on which the IEEE-SA has clearly led, in an area where broad consensus agreements are not yet widely deployed, or in an area that is often seen as emerging and where failure to achieve consensus or development may jeopardize the potential market relevance, and (5) years has elapsed in a leadership position.

The IEEE-SA Corporate Award
For an entity member that has provided outstanding leadership and contribution to the IEEE-SA.

The IEEE-SA Lifetime Achievement Award
For an individual whose achievements include:
• Significant technical contributions, and an extraordinary career, to his/her field of interest;
• Outstanding service to the IEEE-SA, enabling achievement of its objectives;
• Demonstrated commitment to standards development of at least 15 years.

The IEEE-SA Sponsor Award
For an IEEE Standard Sponsor that has shown exceptional support of the entity standards development process.

The IEEE-SA Distinguished Service Award
For a member of the IEEE-SA Standards Board (SASB), or a past member going back as far as five years from the current date, who has demonstrated professional and distinguished service to the board and its programs.

The IEEE-SA Conformity Assessment Award
For major contributions to the development and promotion of IEEE standards products through conformity assessment activities.

The IEEE EAB/IEEE-SA Standards Education Award
For an individual, company, or organization that made significant contributions in support of IEEE standards education.
